

Teacher Workshop

For teacher-led school programs

Jamaica Bay Wildlife Refuge
Sunday, March 16, 2008 11a.m.-1p.m.

This workshop offers an introduction to the wildlife refuge – its plants, animals and natural habitats, and the logistics of bringing a class to the site. After completing the workshop, educators can schedule a teacher-led program where students in grades K-12 can explore one of New York City's most remarkable natural areas.

Upon completion of the workshop the teacher will be responsible for leading the class and ensuring chaperone participation.
